

With the election of the radical, socialist/marxist Barack Obama (as opposed to the election of the moderate socialist/marxist John McCain), perhaps the idea of an independent Southern Republic appears more desirable to Southerners now.

As the above map shows, the South overwhelmingly voted for what it perceived to be conservatism (mistaken as that perception was/is). Why not have conservative, traditional, States' Rights government for real in our own independent country??

For a free and independent Southern Republic.....
